2024 School & 2-week Course Information

Accelerated Aircraft Dispatcher Course (2 Weeks Residency/80 clock hours)

Due to the volume of requests for a quality, accelerated course, we've decided to offer a quality, comprehensive online phase combined with a 2-week course at a reasonable cost.

In the past, we've frowned upon minimal length courses and granting course credit for certain aviation experience, regardless of what regulations allow. Our 76-year reputation for graduating the most qualified individuals must never be compromised. However, we feel that this comprehensive program, along with our excellent instruction will allow us to maintain our reputation. By restructuring our previous 2-week program to include on-line study modules that you complete before you arrive, we have maximized the amount of critical, hands-on practice that you will receive during your time in attendance at Sheffield School.

Our objective is not to simply get you "test-prepped", but to prepare you for airline initial training, basic indoctrination, and OJT.

To earn the Aircraft Dispatcher Certificate an applicant must:

- Pass (70%) the FAA Aircraft Dispatcher (ADX) Knowledge Test.
- Pass (~70%) an FAA-approved course with instructor signoff or meet equivalent experience requirements.
- Pass both phases of the FAA Practical Exam: (I) Flight Plan examination & (II) oral examination.

The FAA Aircraft Dispatcher Knowledge Test is normally taken and passed prior to the 2-week course. We recommend self-studying and practicing our online tests as soon as possible. We recommend that you purchase the ATP test prep book from ASA or the Sheffield ADX Test Prep App. Sheffield School is an authorized PSI computer-testing center, so if you are an international student who cannot take the test in your country, you can take the test at Sheffield for a $175.00 fee, but it must be taken and passed before the class begins. You will receive your FAA test results immediately upon completing the exam no matter where you take the exam. You must bring the original FAA ADX Airman Report to us on the first day of class.

To take the FAA Practical Examination, the student must successfully pass our FAA-approved course, and receive the instructor signoff, as well as pass the FAA ADX Knowledge exam (prerequisite). Our students are issued at least 2-3 Sheffield exams during the 2-week period, which the instructor will use, along with your online test results, to judge your ability to pass the practical exam. This is really what helps to separate us from other schools; we are able to instruct, review, practice, and test our students until we are satisfied that they will be the most successful, confident, and safest dispatchers in the industry. Our success rate is very high and our reputation for producing truly qualified graduates is unparalleled. Our objective is to get every student through our comprehensive course, but it is only accomplished through determination, motivation, self-confidence, and many hours of studying. Free tutoring is always available following class. Airlines tell us directly how much they respect our techniques; they prefer hiring our qualified graduates over those who have been handed a ticket without earning the license.

The FAA Practical Exam is administered following successful completion of the course.

Note: The FAA Practical exams begin as soon as classes end. Be sure to plan on an additional 2-5 days (dependent on class size) in Ft. Lauderdale after the posted class ending date when making travel plans.

Incidentally, if you will be at least age 21 years of age before the course, you are eligible to enroll. Following graduation, and before age 23, you will be issued a Letter of Aeronautical Competency by the FAA, indicating that you have completed all the requirements for the certificate. Then, upon reaching age 23, the FAA Aircraft Dispatcher certificate will be issued. During that time, you may work as an assistant dispatcher or flight follower under the supervision of a certified dispatcher.

In addition to our school-produced manuals, we utilize U.S. Government Publications, as well as industry-used Charts and Approach Plates, and other educational media in the course, including video supplements to classroom lectures.
